

Adding snow or heavy frost to your image.

1. Bring your snow image up in photoshop, and make any changes you like.
2. In layers make a copy of the original.
3. Make the copy active, go to filter>stylize>find edges, Go to image>adjust>invert,[Don't this look awful, don't panic] go to the layers palette, change normal to screen. Isn't photoshop great.
4. Now make a new blank layer. {by making the top layer active, and clicking on the create a new layer icon] Hold down on the alt key and click the merge visible. Now you can work over your image, and if you don't like what you do, you can take this layer to trash bend, and not lose what you have done.
Have fun.

Any comment send to
LPRICEE@AOL.COM